

CRIME AND TERRORISM IN THE NORDIC COUNTRIES

On Thursday, 23 August, 2018 at 10:00–12:00
At the Seminar Hall
Arkadiankatu 23, entrance H (inner courtyard), Helsinki

In the past few years the links between crime and terrorism have been under debate. Are the criminal networks radicalising, or do terrorists just use criminal activities for financing their political activities like before? What synergies might organised crime and terrorist groups find? How is the turmoil in the Middle East impacting our security here in the North? What is the nexus of crime and terrorism?

In order to answer the questions, a specific study has been realised in the Nordic countries by Peter Neumann and Rajan Basra from the International Centre for the Study of Radicalisation.

Opening words:

Juha Jokela, Programme Director, Finnish Institute of International Affairs

Speakers:

Peter Neumann, Project Leader, Crime Terror Nexus, Professor of War Studies, King's College London

Rajan Basra, Head of Research, Crime Terror Nexus, Research Fellow, King's College London

Comments:

Tarja Mankinen, Head of Development, Ministry of the Interior

Chair:

Teemu Tammikko, Senior Research Fellow, Finnish Institute of International Affairs